

PROPHETS OF RAIN CHALK UP SCORE

Weather forecasters who hesitantly predicted light showers for last night were chalking up marks for a direct hit today. It rained.

But they refused to risk reputations by any direct predictions today, intimating that perhaps a cloudy and unsettled condition might continue tonight and tomorrow.

Gentle showers early in the evening and a heavy downpour about 10:30 o'clock left .07 inches in Santa Ana, building up a total of 22.92 inches for this year, as compared to 8.54 inches at this time last season and a total of 8.78 inches for the entire year.

Campbell Station, east of Orange, and Midway City recorded the heaviest fall, with .37 inches, while in Orange .28 inches fell. At Santiago dam 17 inches were reported, boosting the year's total to 29.50 inches as compared to 12.36 inches last year. Beach communities reported about .15 inches.

OLDSTERS TO GET CHANCE FOR WORK

Uncle Sam gave a break today to old men who want to work for what they get.

No longer will men more than 65 years old be cut off from WPA rolls just because of their age. And if they have been cut off during the past year since the old age rule was adopted, they can get their WPA jobs back if they are physically able to work.

Orders Changed A telegram received from WPA officials by Dan Mulhron, chief of the county WPA construction division, rescinded the order of last May to turn off persons more than 65 years old.

The immediate effect of the reversal of the former ruling in this county will be that the old men can apply again for their WPA jobs. It was estimated that close to 300 were released because of this ruling, in Orange county.

Those who are eligible for relief and who are definitely employable can make regular applications for WPA jobs.

Take Examinations If they are getting old age pensions, however, they can't go back on WPA projects. Those who are 65 or over and want WPA jobs will take physical examinations to determine employability. Their applications will be handled just like those of younger persons.

There will be no wholesale reassignments, but the old men taken back on WPA work will be reinstated on the basis of their applications. Older women will be accepted on the same basis as before. If they are definitely employable their applications will be accepted.

MORE ABOUT BEER BOOKS

glad to send these to you if you desire. We should like to have your thoughts on the subject of beer in its general relation to the public, and more specifically, on beer in its relation to your own view."

Henderson told Ruppert what he thought, all right. He said: "I recall that at the meeting of national superintendents in Cleveland three years ago some school administrators from New York arose in one of the meetings to defend the liquor interests. The response there was very prompt and unanimous and, also, in no sense surprising to me."

"It seems to me that any man in public life, dealing continually with children, can have only one opinion in connection with the brewing industry, namely, that the industry can ultimately benefit no one, not even those who have invested heavily in it and are making large profits therefrom."

President Embarrassed "I know that I am in the minority but so are ministers and social workers generally. At the present moment the President of the United States is rather seriously embarrassed by numbers of his leading men who have abandoned the political field to transfer their interests to the liquor business, where they see possible large profits. I believe that the abandonment of which we are accepting everything proposed in this field will result soon again in rigid prohibition."

"The amazing acceptance of every proposal can be the only encouragement, through which the industry would appeal to public education for approval as you do."

And that was that!

MAGNIN WILL GIVE TALK ON PEACE

Churches Plan Union Meeting Sunday to Hear Leader

Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin of Los Angeles, noted speaker and radio lecturer, will appear here Sunday evening at a union church peace meeting in the high school auditorium.
Santa Ana churches are combining their evening services to hear Rabbi Magnin discuss neutrality, according to the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, committee chairman. Music will be furnished by the junior college music department.
Sponsoring the meeting is the Ministerial association, which last November conducted a similar gathering at which Kathleen Norris and Dr. A. D. Stauffer spoke.
"Dr. Magnin," said the Rev. Mr. Schrock, "will discuss peace and whether or not it will be possible for our nation to remain neutral in case there is another European war. Our speaker is a middle-of-the-road peace advocate—he does not take the extreme pacifist position, but he does feel that another war would be a world disaster."

Famous Midget Is Dead at 80

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Casket makers fashioned a tiny coffin today to hold the body of Eliza Nestel, 80-year-old midget who once toured the world with a Billputian troupe, formed by P. T. Barnum.
The little old lady died Sunday night, grieving for her brother, Charles Nestel, another famous midget who toured with the Barnum troupe under the name of "Commodore Foote." She had the stage sobriquet of "Queenie."

Debate Change In School Hours

Should Santa Ana schools open a half hour later in the morning and close a half hour later in the afternoon?
This question was raised by Dr. Margaret Baker, member of the school board, at a meeting of that body last night.
The matter was discussed by the school board, but no action was taken. Superintendent F. A. Henderson suggested that the change would interfere with school athletics, and that it is widely believed that four solid hours of work in the morning constitute the best system.

POLICE REPORTS

O. A. Floyd, city street department employee, reported yesterday the license number of a car in which, he said, two men carried away a tire and wheel from a service station at First and Sycamore streets.
A transient family camping at East Sixth street and the Southern Pacific railroad was warned by officers yesterday. The mother told police they were looking for a house.
Mrs. R. A. Montgomery, 714 Lacy street, reported theft of two hens from her chicken coop Sunday night. She also reported a typewriter missing from a garage of a neighbor, John Jaramillo, 710 Lacy street, but Assistant Police Chief Harry Fink located the typewriter in another garage.
After assertedly driving through a boulevard stop at First and Main streets last night, Oscar Schildmeyer, rancher of route 2, Orange, was arrested on drunk driving charges by Officers Nicholson and Gross. Booked at the county jail, he was released on $200 bond to appear Thursday afternoon in city court.
Two boys trying to sell a watch were investigated by Officers Rogers and Wolford yesterday afternoon. The officers found the watch belonged to one of the youths, who had recently arrived from Iowa. They were looking for work.

SHOW PARKING METER HERE

When and if the city council starts thinking parking meters again, they'll have their choice of models.

Police Chief Floyd Howard today was inspecting a new type meter, left at his office by a representative of a manufacturing company.

The automatic type, used in Long Beach, works at the mere drop of a nickel into a slot. Sometimes it works at the drop of a strip of celluloid or other sinister device for saving a nickel.

The "wind-yourself" type, the model Howard was shown by the salesman, defies jimmying. A real nickel does the work, by turning sideways to foil chisellers. After dropping in the nickel the cash customer then reaches around in back of the machine and turns a handle. This does away with the necessity of weekly winding by the collection man, and, according to its manufacturer, is less likely to get out of whack than the automatic type.

Jaysee Seeks To Hire Dr. Mason

A proposal that Dr. John Brown Mason, noted forum lecturer, be employed in the social science field at the Santa Ana junior college, was made to the board of education last night.

Superintendent F. A. Henderson said Director D. K. Hammond has asked for another teacher for next year at the junior college, because of the anticipated increase in enrollment of from 50 to 60 students. If it is possible, Hammond and Henderson indicated, they would like to secure Dr. Brown as a junior college teacher. No action was taken by the board of education, which took the plan under consideration.

2-WAY RADIO TO OPERATE SOON

Two-way radio communication between police patrol cars and the station will be in operation in at least one car by next week.

Police Chief Floyd Howard said today that Officer W. B. Moreland, department radio technician, had completed the amplifier which will connect the police station with the county police transmitter, and is completing the first of a dozen transmitting sets for use in patrol cars.

The first transmitter, Howard said, probably will be installed this week or next week for experimental use, with other cars being equipped as soon as Moreland completes transmitters. The station amplifier will be connected by a telephone line with KGHX, the county station at the sheriff's office, with a microphone at the central station desk. Moreland already has passed examination for his third-class operator's license, Howard said, and other officers are preparing to take the examination.

BOARD OPPOSES SCHOOL BILLS

In fine fighting fettle, the board of education last night acted to oppose legislation which it branded as detrimental to the interests of public education in this city.

First measure to arouse the ire of the board was A. B. 2340, which provides free texts for all private schools of elementary and secondary grade. This bill passed the assembly and now is before the senate.

The board will send a telegram to Senator Harry Westover and members of the senate education committee, opposing this measure. A letter received from Westover promised he would oppose the bill. The board also indicated it will oppose A. B. 2342, which would provide free transportation for private schools, when the bill comes before the state legislature.

A letter will be sent Governor Merriam asking him not to sign and approve S. B. 104, which provides minimum salaries for teachers of $1320. The minimum in this system is $1200.

Superintendent F. A. Henderson also informed the school board members that S. B. 799, which provides for local retirement for teachers, has been signed and now is a law.

SUNSET LEAGUE

He's the Sunday Pitcher of Cleveland

By PAUL WRIGHT

If you are a fisherman, this will interest you: Lake Arrowhead is holding open competition Saturday. Prizes will be awarded to the sportsmen taking the largest fish from Arrowhead Lake... First prize will be an all-steel lake rod; second prize, a tackle box; and third prize, a fly book... Catches will be weighed at the boathouse at the lake any time Saturday.

"Jim Coates holds no regrets in leaving Santa Ana," was the word brought from Visalia by Joe Rodgers, whose Huntington Beach Oilers invaded the San Joaquin Valley league to win a night-bowl doubleheader from Hanford, 6-1 and 13-8, last week-end. Coates and an old teammate, Shortstop Francis Conrad, saw the Oilers in action.

"Coates feels he did his share for Santa Ana, and that no one should blame him for his side of the story," Rodgers commented. "Do you know that he was signed last year with Visalia? And that that year it was Jim who approached Visalia for the job. They did not come to see him."

"Paul, better tell 'Doc' Smith to pick up over Anaheim. Noted in your column where he picked up for second spot. Well, that is the case every year. We are always in the second spot, but somehow we finish No. 1."

Ray Hapes, the Garden Grove flash who scores touchdowns galore for the University of Mississippi in the fall, writes he will be back in time for opening of the Orange County Nightball league season next month... Hapes will play for Irvine's defending champions.

Joe returns to the valley next week to face Coates, Conrad and Co. in games at Visalia Friday and Saturday nights. "Coates is gunning for us, and believes he can win without Numa. But we think we can beat Coates any time we get good pitching, and we have it now in Errington and Sabela."

Rodgers indicated Coates would have greater difficulty defeating the Oilers at Visalia because he will not have a Santa Ana team behind him.

Kingfish Levinsky Boxes Jack Doyle In London Tonight

LONDON. (AP)—Even money was the best you could get today on either contestant in tonight's "battle of the brains" between Jack Doyle, the Irish tenor, and Chicago's Kingfish Levinsky at Wembley stadium.

Nobody seemed to have a clear idea which was likely to win, but there was a feeling of might in the air since Doyle said yesterday that brains would be the deciding factor and he possessed the better set of thinking equipment.

The Kingfish promised to knock Doyle cold for making such a crack.

Some 16,000 fans were expected to attend tonight's boxing, Doyle, although his visits to the United States did little, if anything, to enhance his reputation, remains a popular fighter in England.

Column Lopez Triumphs on Foul; Hall Draws

It wasn't the fault of his punishing, crushing "boomerang" that Hans Steinke failed to win the main event at the O. C. A. C. mat was last night. It was the German giant's mistake of knocking the daylight out of Referee Joe Vargas, who staggered upon the canvas to raise the hand of Vincent Lopez, Mexican mat-ador, in the first round of the main event.

Lopez was bit groggy from the first-fall beating and began hugging the ropes in the second fall, with Steinke challenging him to "come on out in the center of the ring and fight." The German applied a toe hold. Lopez broke it, and then gave Steinke some of his own medicine before slapping the German silly with a dozen elbow smashes to win the second fall in 14 min. 3 secs. German lost his temper—and the bout—when he began slugging Referee Vargas, who attempted to separate the pair early in the third fall. Steinke knocked Referee Vargas to the canvas three times before "Gentleman Joe" decided to disqualify him after 2 min. 7 secs.

One of the cleanest exhibitions of wrestling ever seen at the Highway 101 club resulted in a hectic one-hour draw between Dr. Len Hall, recognized world's champion in California, and Leo Numa, the lion man from Washington. Questionable tactics were conspicuous by their absence, as these two heavyweights put on a rough show that delighted the gallery. Both "worked" on the other's left arm, and it was just a case of which arm would last the longer. Numa extended the cleaver Dr. Hall to the limit, and deserved the hard-fought draw.

Joe Murguina, another Mexican by the name of Johnny Del Rio showed promise. He held Young Stecher, Orange county's crack middleweight, to a 20-minute draw, and might have won if the distance had been longer. Stecher tried to cash in with an airplane spin after 18 minutes of even-Stephen struggling, but Del Rio came out of it and was going strong at the finish.

Seattle's .295 Leads Hitting

By the Associated Press
Hitting spears have become a habit in the Pacific Coast league, batting statistics disclosed as the fourth week of play got under way today with the San Diego Padres in first place by a one game margin.

Big guns of the circuit have blasted out 1830 base hits, including 94 home runs since the season opened. The statistics show that none of the teams are weak sisters as far as hitting is concerned. The top team has a percentage of .295 and the bottom, .259.

Seattle, fourth in the standings, but tops in the hitting, entertains the third place Los Angeles team this week. San Francisco, second in both the standings and hitting, invades Portland. The wayward Mission Reds who showed a spark of life last week against Oakland, play host to the Sacramento Solons and Oakland goes to San Diego.

Today a year ago—Detroit Tigers brought Irving (Jack) Burns from St. Louis Browns to replace injured Hank Greenberg at first.

Three years ago—Young Corbett 3rd, former welterweight champion, knocked out Young Terry in debut as middleweight.

Five years ago—Henry Brocksmith, Indiana, set new interschool mile record of 9:13.6 at Drake relays. Top flight, champion, 2-year-old of 1931, ran fourth in Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

Colton, Stars Play Again Tonight

Morrill and Mel Toller to Pitch

Bushman, Porter Leave Santa Ana; Nix, Covina Star, Due at Bowl

Unfinished business awaits Santa Ana's Stars inside the Municipal bowl tonight.

Weather permitting, "Doc" Smith's nightball charges will attempt to reverse a 5-4 decision they lost to Colton on the American league nine's field two weeks ago.

The 25-cent admission charge will be in effect for the game, billed for 8 o'clock sharp.

The first time the clubs tangled they each collected 13 hits, and Colton won 5-4 with a three-run rally off Ira DeBusk in the last of the seventh. Tonight, the Stars will send two—perhaps three—new chukkers against the Reds.

Earl Morrill, dean of National league hurlers who has been impressive in two starts here, will be on the firing line for Santa Ana for the first five or six innings.

Then the customers will receive another glimpse at Mel Toller, the 6-3 Texan who pitches from the left side. Ed Riggins, a righthanded rookie, may relieve Toller in the eighth or ninth, Smith said.

Nan Coats, the club's regular first-baseman, will be given his first trial as a catcher tonight, alternating with Ben (Bono) Koral. Charley Nix, a lefthanded hitter who hovered around the .300 mark with Covina in the American league last year, will start in left field, with Smith in center, Earl Conaway in right. Bob Mott will be on first, George Preble on second, Tommy Young on third and Charles Comstock at short.

Al Bushman, veteran pitcher, is no longer with the Stars, and it is hoped to figure in the eighth inning of yesterday's 7-1 defeat of the Athletics. The defeat shoved the A's out of the lead and moved the champions into it.

With runners on first and second, Chubby Dean drove one of Johnny Broaca's offerings straight at Lazzari. Tony elected to gamble, trapped the ball, then flipped it to Shortstop Frank Crosetti, his fellow San Franciscan.

Before the A's the frost-bitten customers knew what was going on, Bob Johnson had been forced at second, Dean was thrown out at first and Wally Moses was tagged by Red Rolfe as he went in for a third out.

Though the weather man washed out all but three games yesterday, those three provided enough excitement to go around. The Boston Red Sox' 9-5 trimming of the Brooklyn Dodgers was marked by Brooklyn Manager Burleigh Grimes' second consecutive expulsion from the field for belching.

In Boston, Bobby Doerr, 19-year-old Red Sox recruit second baseman from the Pacific Coast league, was belted by Washington right-hander Ed Lince, in the course of Boston's 12-5 slaughter of the Senators. Doerr went to a hospital for X-rays and observation.

Fishing Prospects Reported Bright At Big Bear Lake

Charles Tayles, Fullerton, who operates Boulder bay landing at Big Bear, has sent down word that prospects are brighter than in years for a banner fishing season.

The lake is higher than in many years, with the old dam completely covered and water expected to reach the top of the new structure as soon as all snow has melted.

Tayles reports a complete "sell-out" of boats for the opening day.

Once again in first place in the American league, the Yankees already are a step ahead of their blistering 1936 pace.

As they marched their way to victory in the junior circuit's pennant race and the world series last year, the Yanks skipped few team and individual batting honors.

Now they have achieved one peak they missed in their record-breaking 1936 climb with the major league's first triple play of the week-end last season. Last season the American league had seven, to tie the all-time record, but the Yanks didn't have one.

With runners on first and second, Chubby Dean drove one of Johnny Broaca's offerings straight at Lazzari. Tony elected to gamble, trapped the ball, then flipped it to Shortstop Frank Crosetti, his fellow San Franciscan.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK. (AP)—Big league scouts are flocking to Winston-Salem, N. C., to watch Archie Thompson mow 'em down for the Methodist children's home team.

Archie, 18, has fanned 68 batters in 22 innings this season.

Another said it would better any bid the kid received by $1000. One report has it the Cardinals have the inside track, and that if Archie hasn't already made up his mind to cast his lot with St. Louis, he will soon.

Branch Rickey made a personal visit to Winston-Salem to watch the youngster in action. Who's going to bag Bucky Jacobs, U. of Richmond pitcher, who has turned in two no-hitters in as many weeks?

One "rookie" who is more than living up to expectations is Burleigh Grimes. He has been kicked out of two ball games in two days. Ozzie Solon made a big hit with Syracuse alumni here Saturday night.

He makes a good appearance and knows all the answers. Syracuse rooters make no bones about it—they are looking for a return of the good old days along about the fall of 1938.

With the hiring of Solon, Syracuse has gone Minnesota in a big way. Ozzie and two of his assistants—Clarence Munn and Bud Wilkinson—are former Golden Gophers.

Munn, a crack guard in his playing days, will be line coach, while Wilkinson will help Bill Boelter with the backfield.

Heavy play on Pompona has lengthened the odds on Colonel Bradley's Brooklyn as a Kentucky Derby choice.

If Tommy Henrich makes the grade, the Yanks will have two of the best throwing outfielders in baseball.

Few can rifle them in like Joe DiMaggio. And last season Henrich had 21 assists. His total for his 383-game career is 80.

Heavyweight Junior Munsell, who comprises Pepper Martin's fistic stable, has been signed to fight in St. Louis May 4.

Washington wants Red Ruffing, but the Yankees say they'll not trade him.

Gene Hitt will take their Montgomery Ward nine of Santa Ana to Irvine for a practice game Thursday night.

Carpenters' Local vs. M. E. South; Grand Central Market vs. Elks.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

Fullerton's famed wooden nickels made their appearance yesterday. This department, man and boy, stumbled into Otto Evans' store for a coke. A dime in payment brought forth a cardboard affair—or I should say something like plywood—marked 5c and carrying a promise to redeem 'em in cash, if anyone desired.

So, by this morning, everyone in town was collecting wooden nickels. Some of the squares are of 10c denomination and some two-bits. Unless one specifies otherwise, change for purchases is made with these novel money-makers. How many are redeemed will be known later. It's a good idea, anyway.

The wooden nickels are part of the scheme to advertise Fullerton's golden jubilee celebration next month. Each carries a picture of George America, co-founder of the town and promises that they're redeemable in cash at the First National bank up to May 17.

The amusing part of the nickel idea is that the tokens carry the name of Harry Smith, manager of the Bank of America branch.

Incidentally, someone thought up an idea for personal decorations for the jubilee event.

Berets, that's what. Yellow ones, with printing on 'em telling about the celebration. I saw Harry May walking down the street yesterday, thoroughly decorated in one of the Hollywoodish affairs. He looked too cute for words!

Oh yeah—Fullerton reminds me of Judge Halsey I. Spence. Not so long ago I wrote of the pleasure of him while driving down the street and then talked to the rest of the family, giving this department the go-by.

Now, not only the judge, but Constable Walter Skilman, has forsaken me. I called yesterday. Skilman gave me some candy. For Mike, Judge Spence gave some roses, grown in his personal garden. For the head biscuit baker in the family, what did I get?

Nothing.

Toh, toh! All I got was bawled out, for not showing up sooner to take the flowers and candy home!

To some unfortunate in the county I must apologize, heartily. Last week I told of the pleasure of folks being halted by Officer Coltraine in Orange. How that handsome person grinned engagingly while handing out traffic citations.

Then yesterday I saw Stan Wilson, the Orange flash, who columns for the News. Stan said that Coltraine hadn't written a ticket for a month, but the day after the article appeared he handed some worthwhile resident a citation.

So, I'll probably all my fault. I'll apologize, but won't pay the fine, because the case might come before Justice Cal (Shins) Lester, and then it'd be sort of tough on the press!

Another new billboard makes its appearance on West Chapman in Orange.

That's given impetus to noticing billboard-campaign. One entering Santa Ana hides huge portion of very lovely eucalyptus grove. Another offers canned beans or fried fritters or something instead of allowing tourists a view of a fine orange grove.

Something oughta be done!

Police Sergeant John Gregory at Fullerton is glad the famed wildcat hunt is over.

The tracking exhibition, given in conjunction with the Ike Walton Outdoor Show at Fullerton, received wide publicity. Representatives of some sort of Humane Society in Los Angeles were greatly upset by the impending bloodshed. They wrote letters and sent officers to call on John and just worried something awful.

The climax of the campaign against cruelty to beasts was expected to arrive during the vaudeville at the show Saturday night, but Ernie Garner forestalled any interruption by reading his declaration of war against wildcats, which he classified as predators.

He pointed out that they'd destroyed almost everything Isaak Waltoners are seeking to protect. When he asked who favored his war on wildcats, a huge "aye" almost shook down the roof. When he asked for "noes," objectors felt it would be best not to say anything. And so the hunt went on.

The ironical part of the affair was that the cat got away! He was released some time before hounds were brought to the scene. It was a warm evening, anyway, and the scent was gone before the waiting pouches could do their tracking business.

I hope the humanitarians, who like wildcats to survive so they can kill quail and doves and bunnies, got a good night's sleep!

COUNTY CLUBS PARLEY SET

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The Orange County Federation of Women's clubs will hold the semi-annual convention here Thursday, with an unusually large attendance anticipated as the biennial election of officers will be held. Mrs. John Stewart, district president, Hemet, is expected to be present.

The business session of the forenoon will be conducted by the county president, Mrs. Archibald Edwards, in the local Women's clubhouse, 418 Tenth street. Luncheon will be served at noon in Memorial hall, where the afternoon session will also be held.

Mrs. Ila Dabney, president of the local club, is in charge of the entertainment features of the program for the day. The high school girls' society will present a group of numbers; Mrs. Walter Ross, Anaheim, will sing, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Marion Miller, and Mrs. Getting, Santa Ana, will give a humorous talk.

SCHOOL CLUBS HAVE PARTY

GARDEN GROVE.—Freshmen class English clubs of the high school gathered in the gymnasium Friday evening for their fourth annual banquet, for which Etiquette club members served as hosts.

Virginia Stronge, president of the host club, welcomed members of the other two clubs for which their presidents, Louise Barton and Norman Brinnall, responded. Margaret Reed played a piano solo, Maybel Blanco and Betty Osborne sang and Cerritt Vandervolf played accordion numbers.

Norika Sawata served as general chairman of the affair, attended by more than 70 students. Her assistants were Virginia Stronge in charge of the program; Betty Swenson the food; Dawne Cornett and Geraldine Totz, table decorations and Harvey Brown, the clean-up.

H. B. Teacher Resumes Work

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Miss Elsie Chambers returned to her work as visual educational instructor in the elementary school yesterday after an absence of 18 weeks due to injuries sustained in an auto accident during the Christmas vacation.

Miss Chambers and her mother, Mrs. Emma Chambers, were seriously injured en route to Palo Alto. They were in the hospital in that city for 11 weeks, and for the past several weeks have been in the home of Miss Chambers' sister, Mrs. Frankie Cook.

Orange Group Has Beach Party

ORANGE.—The Young Women's division of the Y. W. C. A. sponsored a week-end beach party at the home of Mrs. Charles Robinson, Newport. Attending were Misses Eldene Watson, Marie Bivens, Eileen Gates, Florence Rios, Opal MacAdoo and Beatrice Pinos.

NEW TRAFFIC UNDERPASS IS URGED

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Need for a traffic underpass between the north and south sections of Corona del Mar was brought to the attention of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce by Corona del Mar residents. Those who waited upon the chamber directors in the interests of Corona del Mar were: D. S. Lloyd, Mrs. Edwin M. Williams, Claude A. Pullen, Jack Werner, Clarence H. Lind, W. B. Mac Gintlie and Mrs. Florence Anderson.

Pointed out as important improvements for that section of the harbor city were an underpass centrally located between the north and south sections of Corona del Mar now bisected by the heavily traveled coast state highway, construction of landing piers and creation of a recreation and play center. Cooperation with the chamber of commerce in its work was assured and the chamber was congratulated on the amount of work undertaken.

The magazine was issued last week and contains 28 pages illustrated with linoleum block cuts and containing stories, verse and articles.

FUGITIVE BRIDE

by RUTH LOUISE AYERS

CHAPTER XXXII

FOR a while after Barry had gone, Martha sat motionless in her room, trying to still the quick beating of her heart. So Barry Dean loved her! There was a strange comfort in the knowledge—even though she did not return his love.

However, she must not think of that now. She must face the ordeal of seeing Nick and telling him that she was breaking their engagement—cancelling the wedding that was set for Monday.

She left her room and found a house telephone. She asked the switchboard operator if Mr. Garrett was still in the hotel. There was a pause.

Then the girl reported, "He hasn't checked out, but his room doesn't answer. Shall I have him paged?"

"No—no, thanks," Martha said quickly, but asked the operator for his room number.

"It's all right," she thought. "I'll wait a while then go to his door."

On the way back to her room, she met Anna. The other girl's curiosity about the visitor Martha had had gone back of her.

"Who—?" Anna began. "That was an old beau of mine," said Martha. "He's coming back later to take me home."

Anna was thrilled. "Listen," she said, "if he's coming back let me make you gorgeous again, like I did last night!"

Martha hesitated. When she went to see Nick, she wanted to look her best. It would strengthen her morale when she faced him for the last time.

"All right," she agreed. Back in her room, she let Anna apply her make-up. "I wish I had a mirror," she said. "Yes, I'll look bigger. And the way Anna arranged her hair was very becoming."

She knocked three times before there was a muffled response. "Nick!" she called. "It's Martha!"

She heard stumbling footsteps. Then the door was opened. Nick in his shirt-sleeves stood there swaying.

Martha's first thought as she looked at him was, "I wish I had been drinking." Then, as she saw how white his face was how oddly he stared at her she was suddenly frightened.

"Nick! What's wrong?" "Nothing," he said dazedly. "Except that I must be stark crazy and seeing things. How did you—?" Martha stepped into the room and closed the door.

"The storm," she said cryptically. He stared at her blankly. "Oh, yes," he muttered. "That storm—?" Then, suddenly, he slumped to the floor.

Martha, alarmed, knelt beside him, frantically loosening his necktie and unbuttoning his shirt-collar. She saw the flash of a pocket watch and forced some of the whiskey between his lips, her arm cradling his head.

OUS PASTEUR, at 53, already was famed for finding a cure for a destructive disease. He was a Frenchman, and he was for destroying infectious germs in milk. In 1875, he was busy in his Paris laboratory, studying the deadly cholera bacilli in a broth, and tested a few drops on healthy chickens. One day he took some steps of his own. He injected a little and recovered. He tried it on others. All lived. He gave these birds the cholera germ, and they never even got sick! Pasteur had discovered the principle of immunization.

Now the great chemist turned to his work. He took rabbits that had died of spinal cords, removed their spinal cords, injected some into healthy rabbits. The animals lived. Joseph Weizstein was bitten by a rabid dog. He mother rushed him to Pasteur and, for the first time, the scientist tried his serum treatment on a human being. God bless Pasteur! He cured the doctor. For days on rabies appeared. Soon others came for rabies treatments. Pasteur's work was a great moment in universal history. Once in 1923, then early in 1937, France issued a stamp honoring this great scientist.

COUNTY DAIRIES SET NEW MARK IN REDUCING TUBERCULOSIS

PICK SENIOR PLAY CAST AT H.S.

Jocelyn Brando, Jack Hutton to Star In 'Seventh Heaven'

Jocelyn Brando and Jack Hutton head a cast of 15 players for "Seventh Heaven," Santa Ana High school's senior play, which will be presented in the school auditorium Friday evening. John M. Swarthout, drama director, is in charge of the play.

"This play," Swarthout said, "will surely be one of the finest senior plays ever produced by Santa Ana High school. The cast is very talented and the stage sets are remarkably true to life."

Cloak of Fear
The leading roles in "Seventh Heaven" will be portrayed by Jocelyn Brando and Jack Hutton. Jocelyn, as Diane, is a young French girl whose real character has constantly been hidden under a cloak of fear of her evil sister. Jack, as Chico, is a young Frenchman, homeless, and an atheist, yet strong-willed and powerfully imaginative. He falls in love with Diane.

Supporting Cast
The supporting cast consists of: Bruce Euel; Nana, Diane's evil sister, Eileen Reid; Father Chevillon, the good priest, Russell Haney; Arlette, Diane's little friend, Bette Ann Munson. Brissac, Ralph Pagenkopp; "The Rat," Howard Shipley; Maximilian, Richard Coleman; Recan, Kenneth Aiken; Blonde, James Dunsmuth; Uncle Georges, Wally Grigg; Aunt Valentine, Audrey Barnes; Sergeant of Police, George Dawson; and Lamplighter, Bill Druitt.

Tickets are now on sale at the Santa Ana Book store, 208 West Fourth street. They will also be available at the box office.

Coronation Curiosities

By HAROLD S. CORBIN
One of a series of 18 articles explaining some of the novel phases in the crowning of King George VI of England on May 12, and citing historical precedents for them.

"REDE RIBANS"
Throughout the British empire, from Canada's Arctic Circle to Australia's "down under" realm, skilled craftsmen have for months been preparing stuffs of various kinds for the lords and ladies at King George's coronation. Silks, satins, furs, costly velvets, burlings and a thousand and one things have been in the making. Innumerable men, women, boys and girls have had a part in the preparations and presumably have shared in financial returns.

Yet it was over thus, when Britain prepared to raise up a new sovereign. As far back as 1485, when Henry VII acceded to the throne, there was a great to-do concerning the coronation fabrics, and names of people who otherwise would have long since been forgotten are immortalized in a document called "Emptions and Provisions of Stuff for the Coronation of Henry VII."

The document lists, for example, that "xviii vnces frence of gold and silke for the canopy," were bought of Cecily Walcott, silkwoman. There was also an item of "ii vnces iii quarter Riban of venys gold for the kinges gloves and his Sabatons." Silkwoman Kathryn Claver, Kathryn Walshe, Agnes Dey, Alice Clance and others furnished various pieces, such as "Ribon of rede silke," or "Ribon of venys Silke for girdelles for the king."

Nicholas Atwood, hosier, provided "xxii pair blac hosen and crymsyn for the henxmen and fotemen" also received "xi hattes a xi hostriche feters," at three shillings each, bought from Rauf Lawson. Wages of the "tailours working in the kinges greete warderobe" were six pence a day. Richard Lewes, who worked 20 days there, received ten shillings, three pence, about $2.60. Presumably his room and board were free. (Copyright, 1937) speakers at a monthly meeting of the local Salvation Army advisory board held Friday.

Members present included Mrs. A. G. Flag, chairman; Mrs. Lewis Moulton, L. A. West, J. B. Castiech, W. B. Williams, R. G. Tuthill, W. D. Ranney, Horace Head, Charles Chapman and Capt. Louis Allen.

FINAL FORUM TOPICS ARE OUTLINED

Educational Project In County to End This Week

The closing week of the Orange county forums will bring to the platform Ernest R. Bryan and Dr. John Brown Mason. Bryan conducted last night's meeting at the high school auditorium here with a talk on "More or Less Taxation?"

Throughout the week he will deliver the same talk at the following places: Tonight at Huntington Beach Memorial hall, Wednesday night at the Capistrano Union High school, and Thursday evening at the Garden Grove High school.

Dr. Mason is scheduled to take charge of the Laguna meeting, using as his theme, "Shall We Bribe the Dictators?" This meeting will be held in the Laguna High school. At Anaheim he will repeat this talk Tuesday evening and again on Wednesday at the Tustin High school. Brea's meeting on Thursday night will also be in charge of Dr. Mason, who will use the same theme for discussion.

The meeting for Orange on Tuesday evening will deviate from the usual routine and will be conducted as a panel discussion between M. M. Fishback, vice principal of the Orange High school; Theodore Anderson, member of the high school faculty; W. W. Wieden, acting director of the forums, and Judge James B. Tucker, Santa Ana attorney. They will discuss "Courts—Supreme or Otherwise."

These meetings conclude the activities of the forum in the county, the final meeting for Santa Ana being on May 3.

DEADLINE ON SOIL DATA FRIDAY

Work Sheets for Crop Land Phase Must Be Turned in

Farmers in Orange county were warned today that April 30 will be the final date on which they may file work sheets for the crop land phase of the 1937 agricultural conservation program.

This date will not be extended, it was announced by the AAA regional office at Berkeley, through W. B. Parker, secretary of the California state committee.

May 22 has been set by the state committee as the last day on which range operators who wish to take part in the range phase of the program may turn in applications for range examinations. Next Thursday at 2 p. m. in the Irvine ranch headquarters Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory of Orange county will explain this range program.

The state committee urged all farmers or range operators who wish to qualify for payments under the 1937 program to file the necessary forms immediately with publishers, today decided to release the American edition of "Coronation Commentary."

their county agricultural conservation committee. No payments will be made unless these forms are on file by the dates set by the state committee.

The conservation program carries out provisions of the soil conservation and domestic allotment act passed by congress early in 1936. The act provides that the U. S. secretary of agriculture may make payments to farmers who adopt practices which will conserve and improve all fertility.

REACTORS IN HERDS ARE REMOVED

Dr. Bowers Reports on State Tests Just Made Here

Orange county's dairy cattle have improved 100 per cent in freedom from tuberculosis in the past two years. Figures made public today by Dr. J. H. Bower, county livestock inspector, showed that in 1935 the number of reactors among dairy cattle was about two per cent. A test just completed by the state shows approximately one per cent reactors.

These reactors have been culled from the herds. Repeat tests will be made to determine if other dairy cattle are affected. The test just completed by the state was made on 9007 cows in 148 dairies. The 95 reactors found were removed from the herds.

In 1935, 12,382 dairy cows were tested and 286 reactors were removed, Dr. Bower said. The number of cows tested was larger in 1937 because from 2500 to 3000 family cows were tested, while the test just finished was on commercial dairy cows only. Slightly more than 30 of the reactors in 1935 were among the family cows, said Dr. Bower.

The reactors in 1935 were approximately 2.3 per cent of the total number tested. Regular tests are conducted by the state. Dr. Bower, as county livestock inspector, tests only cows imported to this county. He also sees that state regulations are carried out at dairies.

EMBEZZLER SENTENCED

FRESNO, (AP)—Rolland D. Goodheart, 27, former teller in the Wasco branch of the Bank of America, yesterday was sentenced to the Madera county jail for one year by Federal Judge George Cosgrave after pleading guilty to four counts of embezzlement. Assistant United States Attorney Howard Claverly said Goodheart embezzled approximately $1,100 from the bank.

4 WAYS TRITON Saves You Money!

1. SAVES Carbon Scrapes

"A"—cylinder head of car driven 6,000 miles with other oils. Note heavy carbon causing car to "ping" badly. "B"—same cylinder head 3,000 miles after motor was switched to Triton. Most carbon has burned away. Knocks have stopped.

2. SAVES GASOLINE

Many cars have spark retarded to suppress carbon "ping." Triton allows correct advance setting of spark—without "pinging." Results: You get the mileage, power and efficiency your motor was designed to give.

3. SAVES OIL DRAINS

Triton saves oil because it has extreme resistance to "breaking down." It is a safe, full-bodied oil long after many oils are worn out. Should you neglect to drain crankcase at customary time, don't worry about Triton.

4. SAVES MOTOR WEAR

Hundreds of fleet operators, private individuals, and technically-minded persons, who keep accurate cost records, report Triton saves them money—reduces motor wear, minimizes repairs, gives freedom from carbon troubles.

—Gives you BETTER LUBRICATION plus FREEDOM FROM CARBON KNOCKS!

ALL too often... you only begin to pay for motor oil when you put it in your crankcase. And here's the reason: many oils form excessive carbon and sludge. Carbon causes your motor to knock. Knocks reduce power, waste gasoline with every mile and are damaging to your motor.

Sludge gums piston rings, sticks valves, plugs oil lines and causes excessive wear.

Triton cannot form harmful carbon or sludge because it contains none of the low-grade materials that cause a motor oil to break down in use.

Triton is Propane-Solvent refined... 100% PURE Paraffin-base... 100% PURE lubricant... so pure, motors easily burn away the small amount of carbon formed. It gives the finest type of motor protection money can buy—PLUS freedom from carbon knocks and all the waste and damage knocks cause.

Put Triton in the crankcase and forget your lubrication worries. It will save you money—give you a better-running car! You will find Triton at over 9,000 stations in the West.

Four Hundred At Nursery Benefit

Mrs. John Cloyes and Musicians Supply Fine Program

Charming detail and the knowledge that through their pleasure they were contributing materially to a worthy cause made some four hundred Santa Ana society women yesterday afternoon go away from the Day Nursery Benefit party sponsored by the Ebell club wishing such delightful affairs could be held more often.

The utmost simplicity characterized the party. Some 75 or more bridge tables were set up in the Peacock room and here those who wished played auction or contract throughout the afternoon. Mrs. A. G. Flagg made a gracious hostess, and with the assistance of Mrs. John Ball, presided over arrangements for this part of the affair. Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mrs. George Raymer greeted guests at the door, and Mrs. Frank Drumm ushered bridge players to their tables, which had been set up under the supervision of Mrs. Carl Klatt.

Exquisite sprays of bridal wreath and tall jardiniere of iris arranged by Mrs. Fred Forgy, were the sole decorations in the Peacock room, and their colorful motif was carried out in the springlike flowered paper and celophane ribbons which decked the prizes. These latter were all delicious home-made cakes contributed by Ebell members, and had been wrapped by Mrs. D. D. Waynick.

In the lounge all arrangements had been made most efficiently by Mrs. Herbert Rankin and her committee, which was made up of Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mrs. Alan Revell, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Mrs. R. C. Harris and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin.

Here Mrs. John Cloyes surpassed herself as a dramatic reviewer, for she presented her interpretation of Maxwell Anderson's "Wings of Victory" in unusually delightful and interesting fashion. Her gracious stage presence was enhanced by a long black taffeta frock, flowered in gold, and a black picture hat.

Added to the charm of the program in the lounge was the pleasing ensemble music of the Thalian quartet, composed of violinist, pianist, cellist, and vocalist.

Dainty corsages of sweet peas and roses which had been fashioned by Mrs. Cassius Paul were presented Mrs. Cloyes and to the musicians, Fay Spicer, Anna Mae Archer, Pauline Graaf Rhodes, and Marian Graaf, who had thus assisted the charity project.

A lace-spread tea table centered with poppies of all hues and varieties was the climax to the afternoon, and in its patio setting it was presided over by Mrs. J. E. Paul and Mrs. F. C. Rowland. Smaller tables against the wall were similarly decorated.

Refreshments for the afternoon were in charge of Mrs. Clara Richards and Mrs. T. R. Trawick, and they were ably assisted by two score members of Girls' Ebell in serving.

A special door prize for those who participated in the lounge program went to Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, auction high score prize went to Mrs. Harvey Bennett, and prizes for contract went to Mrs. Sara Haddon, Mrs. C. B. Steele, and Mrs. Vinnie Conner.

Particular thanks were extended by Mrs. Flagg today to the Rev. Earl C. Bloss of the Santa Ana Wedding Chapel, who last month initiated a new Day Nursery benefit of his own. Each month he will turn over the proceeds of the wishing-well located in the chapel garden to a milk fund for the nursery children. This, with the proceeds from the party and additional funds from Ebell will carry the nursery successfully through the summer.

BAPTIST CHURCH PEOPLE INVITED TO PARTY

Men of the Baptist church will be guests of honor Friday evening when members of the Women's society entertain the congregation at their annual party in the church.

Miss Lula Minter, president of the society, has appointed Mrs. W. A. Atkinson as general chairman of arrangements for the 6:30 dinner. Mrs. Mary Steffensen has arranged the musical play for the evening.

Mrs. Steffensen will be assisted by Miss Mae Rose Borum, and such well known local singers as Leslie Steffensen, Beulah Parker, Mary Nell, Russell Crouse, Royce Edson, and Horace Ritzer, and a chorus.

Reservations are to be made by Wednesday evening by calling the church or Mrs. J. E. Swank, phone 3474-W.

DANIGERS ARE EVENING CLUB HOSTS SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Daniger hosted members of their evening bridge club Saturday night when they presided at a dinner party in the private dining room of Daniger's tearoom, later taking their guests to their apartment in the Grand Central for bridge.

Iceland poppies, place cards tinted in orange, and tomato juice of the same orange shade made harmonious accents in the pretty appointments chosen by the hostess for her table.

Places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yost, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ragan, Dr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McPadden, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rapp, and the host and hostess.

First prize in the bridge game went to Mrs. Hall at the tallying following the evening's play.

YOUR BABY BOOK
By BETTY COX

Guess what! We've had tomato weeks, potato weeks, bread weeks, Girl Scout week, cut-your-hair week, and just about 49 other kinds of special weeks in this past year—but next week, May 3 to 8, is just for babies.

National Baby week, and what could be nicer than to have five days out of every week going to bring you news about a big portion of our very youngest set.

Here are just a few of the glimpses we had as we made the rounds yesterday afternoon and this morning:

Little two-weeks old Patricia Lu Harding is very particularly her grandfather Allen's child, because, born on his birthday anniversary, her middle name is taken from his, Lucius E. Last Sunday her daddy, Bruce Harding, came down from Whittier and drove her and her mother, Lorna, home with him. Patricia Lu is another little red-head, with a chubby round face, and she looks a lot like her mother.

The infancy out at the Carson Smith home are really stair-steps. Peggy is 8, Bobbie is 4, and diminutive Grace Ellen is just six weeks old. Grace Ellen is plump and pretty and very doll-like, with big brown eyes and brown hair that has a teeny-weeny curl. Her "big" sister has quite a way with her, and is quite a help to Mrs. Smith in holding and playing with the baby. Four-year-old Bobbie is pretty interested in his baby sister, too, but "bars" n' swings'n things occupy his interest chiefly.

Carolyn Harrison has been having a swell time during the past couple of weeks. A light case of mumps has caused her quite a little discomfort, but she's up and about now and playing with older brother Jimmie.

And dainty flaxen-haired Gail Finley (whom her mother calls "The Duchess") calmly reached out and got stung by a bee, on her thumb, the other day—which wasn't so good. She and 6-year-old Heinze (Leland, Jr.) are looking forward to an entire summer at the beach with their parents, Lee and Betty Finley.

Another red-headed infant who's trekked down from Santa Ana is Susanna Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Williams (Caroline Ferrey) of Ontario. Susanna made her debut in St. Joseph's hospital early this month.

Bobby McCalla and his mother, Mrs. R. H. McCalla, have both been having colds, but are getting much better now and Bobby is almost his old self again.

Bobby Biles is a pretty proud big brother now and gets a big thrill out of helping Mother with the new baby brother she brought home from the hospital just two weeks ago.

Little Brother Phillip was born March 22, and though just four

Married In Home Of Parents

Quiet simplicity marked the lovely wedding ceremony of Sunday afternoon in which Miss Pauline Calkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Calkins of this city, became the bride of Ronald A. Bush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Bush of 1132 West Walnut street, Santa Ana.

The wedding was performed at the home of the bride's parents at 1909 South Van Ness street by the Rev. L. D. Meggers of the Church of the Nazarene, with only the immediate families in attendance.

Wearing a pretty afternoon frock of blue crepe with accessories of white, and carrying a bouquet of white roses, the bride was attended by a close friend, Miss Mabel Anderson, and Mr. Bush's attendant was his twin brother, Donald Bush. Miss Anderson wore an attractive rose crepe dress with accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

After the ceremony, which had as background an altar of pink and white sweet peas and snowball blossoms, the bride cut a white tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and joined in the refreshment hour with the guests.

Gathering for the marriage ceremony were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bush; his grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Bush, and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bush, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ranney, high lady and man.

Guests at the bon voyage courtesy were Mr. and Mrs. Burke and Mr. and Mrs. Lasby, the honor guests; Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Dr. and Mrs. John Wehrly, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal King, Mr. and Mrs. John King, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Winbinger, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ranney, and the six hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Smart, Mr. and Mrs. Burke, and Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless.

Mrs. Lasby, one of the quartet, departed this morning, planning a short visit with her sister, Miss Marjorie Lindsey, in Berkeley before going on to meet the other three at Victoria, B. C. Together, the four will sail from that port on May 1 aboard the Empress of Russia, bound for the Orient.

After visiting Japan and China, the Santa Anas will go on up into Manchukuo and then by rail through Siberia to Moscow and Leningrad. Visits in Poland, Austria, Switzerland, France, and the British Isles will follow, and the return trip will be made on a Canadian liner across the Atlantic ocean to Montreal. They plan to be away about four months.

In Scotland, the Burkes will visit Nan Blair, who has been at their home for many years and who is sailing from New York on May 14 for her former home in Airdrie, near Glasgow, Scotland. Miss Blair will remain abroad until September, returning in time to attend the Canadian-United States convention of Daughters of Scotia which opens September 21 in Detroit.

PRETTY RITES ARE PERFORMED AT CHAPEL

With full bridal party Miss Herman Schaper of Pomona became the bride of Lowell Montz of Laverne in a pretty ceremony performed in the Santa Ana Wedding Chapel Sunday evening. The groom's father, the Rev. Roy A. Mozz, read the rites.

Miss Schaper wore a white satin gown with train and long French veil, and carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and roses. Miss Frances Guernsey, her maid of honor, wore blue taffeta with a train, and three bridesmaids, Miss Lonetia Montz, Miss Evelyn Olson, and Miss Dorene Finley, wore similarly-fashioned frocks of net over taffeta in shades of orchid, yellow, and pink. They wore matching muffs and pashies in their hair.

Little Roger Cullen, dressed in white, was ring-bearer, and Miss Dona Sue Crowe, frocked in pink, with a basket of sweet peas, was flower girl.

The groom was attended by Glenn Finley of Pomona, and had ushers, Herman Schaper, Homer Schaper, and Vernard Ferguson. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Maude Schaper, 150 East Alvarado street, Pomona, where the young couple will make their home when they return from a northern honeymoon.

weeks old is already strong enough to turn himself over in his crib. Like Bobby, Phillip is a blond, with blue eyes, and the nurses at the hospital say he looks like his mother.

Bobby, by the way, has a good start on his summer suntan, together with a sprinkling of freckles across his face, and he thinks these spring days are just about all right.

New gardens and new lawns are quite the most interesting thing right now to 3-year-old Diane Elfstrom, whose family, the E. F. Elfstroms, have just moved into a new home out on Heliotrope drive. Both she and her sister, Nancy, who is 8, are enjoying the gardening and the landscaping of the grounds, and the housewife, Diane, keeping especially busy with these things while sister is in school.

Diane is a little blonde with very dark eyes and has a birthday coming on the 12th of May. Nancy, who is in the third grade, will be 9 on Nov. 29 this year. A blonde also, she differs in coloring from her little sister in that she has very blue eyes to go with her light hair.

Dinner Party Bon Voyage Courtesy

Coming as the final courtesy extended by their friends before their departure this week for a trip around the world was the bon voyage dinner of unique appointments at which Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Burke and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby were honored last night at Danigers.

Hosting the delightful affair were Mr. and Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smart, and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless. Little suitcase and satchel cards marked the places of the travelers and the other guests at the one long table set at one end of the main dining room; and, since the honored guests are going first to the Orient on their span of the world, the Japanese theme predominated in other appointments.

Centerpiece for the table was a mirror representation of the Japanese inland sea, with green and rock islands and little Oriental vessels sailing over its surface.

In among vines and ferns down the length of the table were little Japanese figures in "rickshaws" or under bright little parasols; and at four points tall cream tapers rose from holders of white pottery.

After dinner, the guests were invited to the smart home at 1533 East Fourth street for bridge, prizes at the close going to Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, high couple, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal King, second high, and Mrs. Paul and W. D. Ranney, high lady and man.

As a climax to the pleasant evening, the guests showered the departing friends with gifts of a nonsensical nature, much fun ensuing when the four unwrapped the gay little packages.

BACHS HOSTS AT POTLUCK PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Bach, 832 Garfield street, were hosts at an enjoyable pot-luck supper last evening, continuing a custom of eating and talking that has been in effect for the past five years.

Those who gathered around the mirror and a sweet-pea centered table were Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Alberts, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Arms, Miss Mary Craig, and Mr. and Mrs. Bach.

A.A.U.W. BOARD MEETING

Members of the A.A.U.W. held a board meeting at the home of Mrs. Martha E. Elmer Thursday night. Plans were discussed for the state conference which will be held at Coronado on May 21 and May 22. Special rates are being arranged for all those wishing to attend this convention. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, May 11. MARY STODDARD

How Is Middle-Aged Woman Left Alone Going to Spend Her Leisure Hours?

When I read a letter from a mother in the morning mail a feeling of warm gratitude swept over me. She's not selfish and won't be pampered. Her mate has gone to the Great Beyond. The last of her brood will soon leave the home nest to make a home of her own. Alone! The last years of her life this mother prefers to spend by herself, not through necessity but choice. She's not full of self-pity, but faces the future bravely and calmly. But how is she to spend the leisure moments to get the most out of her time? There must be many other women who have solved this identical problem and it is to them that I am appealing for suggestions.

Dear Mrs. Stoddard: I have been a silent reader of your column about two years, never thinking for one moment that I would be writing and asking for advice on a very perplexing problem which I am unable to solve alone.

Perhaps you or your great multitude of faithful readers can give me an inkling on just what to do. It isn't an affair of the heart, oh, no, but very vital to me just the same. I am going to be alone—all alone—for the first time in my life, and I have to learn to live alone and appear to like it, too, as my "little family" has dwindled down to my little daughter, who leaves me in a very few weeks to be married to the boy of her choice. She wants me to live with her, as we have been inseparable since my husband died. I say "no," most emphatically, as I simply believe that all young people should live alone and not be bothered with in-laws around, regardless of how much we love them.

Fortunately, I have a small income, and when I say "small" I really mean it, which means I do not have to go out to earn my daily bread, for which I am truly thankful. My "home" will probably consist of two rooms in this day of advancing rents and how can a busy, active, healthy woman nearing the half-century mark, who has always had plenty to do, working for her family, keeping them well and happy, be satisfied sitting with empty hands, watching the world go by.

I want to do something, not be a "has been." My children absolutely refuse to let me be a housekeeper, saying that I have done my share and now just to rest for awhile.

But while I am resting in my little two by four I am also eating my dinner alone, reading my newspaper alone, listening to the radio alone and maybe, if I am not afraid of the dark, going for a walk alone. Sounds exciting, doesn't it? The days don't worry me but the evenings, how long they can be, especially when I think of friends who are home with their husbands and children, doing their manifold duties as I used to do before the passing of my wonderful husband and the marriages of my devoted children.

I haven't the money to belong to clubs or organizations of any kind, but, if you or your readers have any suggestions as to how to live alone and enjoy it, too, I will be everlastingly grateful to you all.

Understand, I am not complaining as I am really a very happy individual and have been able to take everything heretofore with a smile, but tonight I am JUST WONDERING.

Ebell Past Leaders Feted

Past presidents of the Ebell club, a group who keep up their associations in meetings three or four times every year, were gathered together again on Saturday as guests of Mrs. Sam W. Nau and Mrs. Terry Stephenson in the former's home in Tustin.

Among the honored guests was Mrs. J. R. Medlock, who, although she never accepted the presidency of the club, did fulfill the duties of that office for part of a year, and who is always included with past presidents because it was in her home that the Ebell club was formally organized back in 1894.

Others sharing in the happy reunion were Mrs. Edwin M. Nealey, Mrs. A. J. Cruikshank, Mrs. C. F. Crose, Mrs. W. L. Grubb, Mrs. John E. Gowen, Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Mrs. Robert G. Tuthill, Mrs. Paul Bailey, and Mrs. C. V. Davis, and the two hostesses.

Invited to the dining room for the luncheon hour, the group had their places marked at one large table centered with a low glass bowl of sweet peas and maiden hair fern, the fragrance of the flowers blending with that of the roses through the other rooms of the home.

After luncheon, these former Ebell leaders spent several enjoyable hours in the lovely living room where the windows give views of the beautiful flower gardens of the Nau home. Plans were discussed for another meeting some time in June, before the club year closes.

Edwin McFadden, Judge J. B. Tucker, Wilbur Getty, Hunter Leach, Bill Penn, Bert Casteix, Otto Jacobs, Rodney Bacon, Franklin Grouard, and Charles Van Wyk.

A gift was presented to "Mother" Reeves by Judge Tucker, a token for all the members of the Mothers' club.

Members of the Mothers' club present were the Mesdames Fannie Reeves, Margaret Hill, Nanette Lester, Cora Adams, Anna Cole, Estelle Stove, Susan Lamb, Martha Elliott, Fannie Rose, Sara Marvin, A. Robinson, Edith Getty, Iona Sharp, and Alma Kellogg.

TOM SAWYER TRIAL IS OVER

Serial Characters Can't Get Jail Protection From 'Injun Joe'

Having taken the witness stand in "Muff" Potter's trial for murder, to testify that it was really treacherous old Injun Joe that did it, with "Muff" being acquitted, Tom Sawyer has an easier conscience. And so has "Huck" Finn, now relieved of the terrible secret they held so long.

In the current weekly sequence of episodes, Tom and Huck still hold the fear that Injun Joe may return and seek vengeance on them. They ask to be locked up in the town jail until Injun Joe is captured. The constable refuses their request.

Carroll O'Meara's radio adaptation of Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" is broadcast from KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system from 6:45 to 7 o'clock nightly except Saturdays and Sundays.

LOUIE SCREWY, SAYS LOWRY

Hecklers and stooges may come and go, but "Brother Louie" will probably go on forever, getting in the hair of his kin, Ed "Sing Time" Lowry, who will not, another of his popular programs on KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system from 7 to 7:30 tonight.

The half hour also will present the voices of Milton Watson, tenor, in "these here parts," Peggy Bernier, a cute trick with a new angle on song interpretation, the exceedingly young Brian Sisters, and the vocal chords of 600 volunteer vocalists comprising the audience.

CALENDAR FOR SCHOOL TOLD

Calendar for the school year of 1937-38 was adopted by the board of education last night.

School will open on Sept. 13, closing on June 17. The first quarter will end on Nov. 12, the first semester on Jan. 28 and the third quarter on April 8.

School holidays were set as follows: Armistice day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving vacation, Nov. 25, 26; Christmas vacation, Dec. 18, 1937, to Jan. 2, 1938, inclusive; spring vacation, April 9 to 17, inclusive, and Memorial day, May 30.

This Broadcast Isn't Broadcast

Here is a broadcast that is not a broadcast. It is broadcast to, but neither through nor from the 52 stations which comprise the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting system.

This is what happens. Before a microphone at WOR, key station of the network in New York City, and at KHL, key station of the California Don Lee "Golden Group," two young women who are not radio artists, but secretaries, daily broadcast information which all secretaries must receive simultaneously.

They are Rita McCusker and Ruth Barnard, and they "go on the wire" to inform all concerned at each Mutual station of forthcoming schedule changes, requests for time-clearance on some future date, and other information of value to the directors of commercial, technical and publicity departments.

Stenographers, seated in an idle studio at each station, record their words and transcribe them.

Modulations From KVOE

GOVERNOR MERRIAM

The College of the Pacific broadcast, originating in Stockton to motion in the current broadcast, to be released by KVOE, will feature an address by Governor Merriam.

MUSICAL MOMENTS

Willie Morris, featured songstress on a national network, and Arthur Nell, Jr., romantic baritone, will collaborate with the Songsmiths quartet and Rubinoff and his violin to turn out some entertaining songs and tunes in tonight's "Musical Moments Revue" at 8:45.

EARTHQUAKE TALK

Dr. John P. Suvaldo, professor of geology at the California Institute of Technology, official of the Seismological Society of America, and internationally recognized authority on the subject, will discuss "Earthquakes" during the "Radio University" broadcast tomorrow afternoon at 3:45.

Eerie House Gets 'Drums' Spot

The strange house on the Bosphorus, currently occupied by William Farnum and his "Drums" cast, during their sojourn in Turkey, claims the "milklike" of attention in the current episode of the adventure serial broadcast by KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system tonight from 8 to 8:15.

THE WINDOW TAX

Probably the weirdest tax ever foisted on American citizens was the one levied by the state of Pennsylvania in 1798. The tax was appraised on houses and land, the amount assessed against each house being determined by the number and size of its windows. Congress had passed an act levying a direct tax of $2,000,000. Of this sum, $237,000 was apportioned to Pennsylvania and it was with the "Window Tax" that the state sought to raise its share.

QUADRUPLE STEAL... Pitcher McGee, of the Keokuk team, was in a tight spot. It was the seventh inning and the bases were loaded. Taking his time, he wound up. The man on third, Frank Murphy, took a long lead from base--then sprinted for home before the pitcher delivered. The ball arrived in the catcher's mit at the same time Murphy crossed the plate to score. Mizur, on second, dashed for third and Esrey on first headed for second. Mizur, on second, beating out catcher Becker's peg, Mizur, meanwhile, continued on to home.

Tomorrow: Monkey Business.

Judge Stump

Dear Judge: Did any woman ever buy the first pair of shoes the clerk showed her? Mrs. Zittie Whitsit of Sioux City did. She thought she had a fit--and maybe she did. At least, she certainly has had one ever since.

Honest Sue Helps The Week Through

PATTERN 5522

Dishes fairly fly out of the pan and back to their shelves when dish towels are jolly and fun to use. These are, as you'll soon see, for "Honest Sue" is pretty as a picture in her poke-bonnet and hoop skirt, a quantity of gay scraps. Outline stitch gives the patches a neat finish. She's an easy one to applique, too, so out with needle, colored floss and if you prefer, you can omit the applique and do the motifs entirely in outline stitch. In pattern 5522 you will find a transfer pattern of seven motifs (one for each day of the week) averaging 5 1/2 x 7 inches and applique pattern pieces; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches used; color suggestions.
 To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address and Pattern Number.

Let's Try Death Prevention

DEATH continues to attack Orange county motorists. Three youths were killed last week-end and another is dying in a local hospital as you read these words.

Toll for the year to date has climbed to 27 lives, which is even worse than last year's here which was the third worst in all California.

Drivers seem to pay as little heed to the wholesale arrests of the police as they have to the unceasing warnings of the press.

Since other means have failed, the time has come to resort to a drastic tightening of laws governing the issuance of drivers' licenses, in our opinion.

Keep stupid and careless drivers off the roads by refusing to grant them licenses.

Modern civilization conquered typhoid fever, industrial accidents and fire by preventing them.

It looks as though it will now have to conquer motor-car murder by preventing reckless and dumb people from driving cars.

Let no one drive an automobile who is not as well qualified mentally and physically as the pilot of an airplane or the engineer of a railway locomotive.

How about it, Senator Westover and Assemblymen Watson and Kuchel? Will a law like that stop highway homicide?

Mrs. Roosevelt says she is delighted with the eastern wildflowers. She would be overcome by those out here.

Time to Settle This Now

WITH the valuable fisheries along Orange county's shoreline imperiled by the purse seiners and floating reduction plants, it is important that the question of law covering commercial fishing be settled before the new Japanese "mother" ships get this far down the coast.

Already the floating canneries of Japan are invading the area in the Pacific Northwest which has been fished by Americans. Legally they have a perfect right to do this, just as they will have the right to move down here when the fishing is exhausted up there.

There should be some sort of new interpretation of rights to fish given in the close future. Otherwise there is going to be a nasty fight between the sportsmen of Southern California, the commercial fishermen of this area and those huge Japanese "mother" ships.

The time to get the laws on this subject—both state and international—settled is now before new complications develop.

When neighbors argue over a boundary line between their property, the sure way to keep the peace is to bring in a surveyor and settle the boundary for once and for all. That is what should be done in this fishing wrangle—and the sooner the better.

Hollywood brags of a scenario writer who rose from a park bench to a big movie job. That sounds likely.

On Suppression of News

ADDRESSING the American Newspaper Publishers convention last week at New York, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, told the newspaper men:

"Lack of publicity concerning inefficient enforcement agencies or pressure of politics upon the police is an aid to the underworld. Crime lives and thrives by this sort of secrecy."

Every newspaper man knows this, Mr. Hoover, just as he knows that suppression of publicity concerning the expenditure of money or the enactment of new laws by any governing body is an incentive to slipshod and careless administration. We are glad that you look on the matter in the same light we do. It is too bad that more public officials do not possess your breadth of vision.

Contradiction: When a request for a billion and a half is accompanied by a request for "economy."

Reducing the Sales Tax

NOW THAT the assembly has wisely voted by a substantial majority to reduce the sales tax from 3 to 2½ per cent, we hope that the senate concurs and passes the slash along to Gov. Merriam for approval.

Unless this reduction is made, the tax will pile up a surplus of some 60 million dollars, and that will prove a temptation to extravagance, according to Assemblyman Williamson of San Francisco, author of the bill.

The sales tax puts the burden on those least able to bear it and is an emergency form of taxation that should be lightened every time the opportunity offers.

Taxes are high enough as it is. Why keep them unnecessarily high?

Next thing you know the supreme court justices may decide they should have to pay income tax.

For Bicycle Riders Only

THIS editorial has nothing to do with speed-crazy motorists or jay-walking pedestrians who run up the accident rate. It's for bicycle riders and it's just a friendly bit of advice condensed from a little booklet issued by bike manufacturers themselves. Here goes:

Don't ride through red lights; you have no more right to than a motorist.

See that your bike has an approved light or reflector in rear and an approved light in front.

Equip your bike with a bell, siren or horn—and use it.

Observe all the traffic rules—never hitch on to a truck or car—keep your bike in working order.

That's all for this time. Play safe and you'll stay safe.

Gracious! Duke of Windsor has sun-burned knees, and his wedding day is almost here.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

James Montgomery Flagg continues the Ponce de Leon among artists. Somewhere he seems to have tapped the youth's eternal fountain. At an age when many limbers have put away their drawing boards, he is doing more work than ever before, and with a zip.

Not that he is a Methuselah, but he is certainly not spring chicken. Yet he hasn't a gray hair or a suspicion of thinning in his tousel of wavy locks. And his mind has the speed of a roulette ball. He dresses as becomingly as any juvenile on the stage or screen. Indeed, he sets many styles.

He and his fellow artist, Arthur William Brown, were first in exploiting the checked collar to match the shirt fancy. He is a lively partner at tennis and the "life of the party" on those annual jaunts of New York artists for two weeks of caper at Palm Beach.

A tireless worker, he will sit at his tasks all day, dance the night away and be a willing fourth at one of those suddenly conceived quartets at sunup. Or he may go up the gangplank at hour's notice to see Paris again or fly to Hollywood to act and paint a picture of Dietrich.

Visitors to Manhattan are now paying $150,000 a year to go on the hourly walking tour of Radio City with uniformed guides. It has become a greater sight-seeing magnet than the statue of Liberty, the Aquarium, Central Park, Bronx Zoo and the Empire State building.

Jacob Ruppert, the brewer and ball magnate, is regarded by many as the best dressed middle-aged New Yorker. He goes in for some shades, blue serge, dark browns and ash gray ensembles and his ties are of dignified pattern. But he is always so meticulously groomed people turn as he passes along. Another middle-aged dresser of notable sartorial distinction is Joseph E. Widener. To my mind the world's best dressed man was the late Jean Yvonne, Paris dressmaker. His sartorial study in color blending. I used to stand outside his establishment in the rue Florentin to watch his arrival and his sympathy for the day. It was never disappointing and he never repeated.

Harlem is in the throes of a brightening up as results of the World's Fair in 1939. The long, shabby 125th street and its approach to the Tri-boro bridge will be the main artery to the fair. And already the thoroughfare is being made over. Cheap john stores are making way for smart and expensive enterprises and real estate values in the area are decidedly on the up beat after a long period of standstill.

The passing of Frances Marcossion was a crushing blow to her husband, Isaac Marcossion, traveler and writer. Red haired, beautiful and an animated conversationalist, she presided as hostess at Marcossion's select little dinner parties to world notables. When she became ill a year ago, he gave up all writing and was constantly at her bedside, save for a walk around the block each sun-downer. Their devotion made them remarked as "the ideal match."

Bathroom decor takes on the sudden style change almost of a lady's frock. There was a period when the all-white bath was the thing. Then came coral pink affairs, robin's egg blue and color combinations of yellow and green. Today the smartest bathrooms are black and beige—the tub and washstand of the darker shade.

Most metropolitan dramatic critics have a hobby that relieves the rigors and tedium of incessant first nighting. Brooks Atkinson of the Times is an ornithologist and has authored several volumes on bird lore. Gilbert Gabriel, who is also an art critic, turns out a novel or a motion picture between seasons. His wife is also a painter. John Anderson, of the Journal, is a bibliophile and his wife is an art critic. John Mason Brown, of the Evening Post, is a lecturer on the drama. Young Richard Watts is a student of Russian literature and ideology and has made several trips to Russia. Richard Leckridge of the Sun writes those amusing vignettes in the New Yorker, and Burns Mantle is interested in horticulture at his Long Island place.

The list of 10 best dressed men in New York prepared by a tailors' association had a second list of those who just missed. I was on the latter list. It must have been the red edge on the cuffs of those black mittens.

MOPEY DICK AND THE DUKE
"Where does he get that high-hat-in' me stuff? Why I wouldn't say hello to that guy if I saw him coming down the street with Roosevelt on one side and John L. Lewis on the other. And you can throw in a couple of Garbos too."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Apropos of the back-handed British suggestion of paying war debts, the President was talking over the European situation with a foreign agent expert the other day, and made the significant remark that the last thing he wanted to discuss with European nations was war debts. He indicated that he would much rather keep war debts on the shelf, whence he could take them down as a possible gesture of American good will if Europe was able to get together on disarmament.

In other words, if Europe would make a new pledge to avoid the next war, Roosevelt would throw away the financial memories of the last.

Note: European diplomats, informed of his plan, point out that Europe long ago has forgotten about war debts, that Roosevelt's gesture would be next to empty.

PARTY WHIPPING

The much higher degree of efficiency of the house of representatives, as compared with the senate, is due in large part to the 17 whips, whose job it is to keep the Democratic donkey from breaking out of the traces.

It is generally supposed that each party has only one floor leader, but the management of the present unwieldy Democratic majority required the efforts not only of Majority Whip Patrick J. B. Boland, but also of Chief Assistant Whip John F. Dockweiler, plus 15 lesser assistant whips.

The whip has an office in the capitol, just above Statuary hall, where the big whip and the 16 little whips gather around an oval table and plan the execution of party policy.

Each assistant has a district or zone, and when the policy is determined, he is responsible for securing the attendance of the party members in his zone, and whipping them into line. The heaviest job falls to Assistant Whip William F. Sutphin, who must corral all 27 of Pennsylvania's Democrats plus the seven New Jersey members. Lightest job falls to Assistant Whip William M. Citron, who covers all New England, and has only 13 Democrats in his fold.

The whip is the business of the whips to sound out sentiment and report their findings to the leaders. If it appears that certain members are reticent, or openly opposed to a given proposition, it is the duty of the whip to make them conform to party orders. He must be adroit and tactful, must cultivate a personal knowledge of each man in his group, must understand his ambitions and his convictions.

When pacific methods fail, he is supposed to apply the lash of the party whip.

Note: The office of whip is derived from the British parliament.

IT DOESN'T ADD UP

To the Editor: The President's message on relief and economy is a disappointment and a delusion.

The $1,500,000,000 he asks for work relief in the next fiscal year seems to be just a round figure pulled out of a hat—a lump sum which he asks congress to turn over to him to be spent on a program which certainly there is no reason to believe will be better planned or better executed than past programs.

He infers that a billion and a half will pay the bill for all of next fiscal year—that he will not ask congress next winter, as he did last, for more relief money.

Yet at the same time he indicates that what he has in mind is merely more projects of the present WPA type, tending increasingly toward made work, becoming increasingly more wasteful of money, providing "security wages" for only part of the jobless em-ployed, leaving the rest to the mercy of local direct relief or to no relief at all.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that the appropriation asked will mean no cut in work relief rolls.

How is that possible? How can a program now costing more than two billion a year be continued on the same scale for a billion and a half? The President does not say, but the conclusion is inescapable.

Either he is deluding the taxpayers, or he is deluding the people now on relief, or he is deluding himself. Either the work relief rolls will have to be cut, and deeply cut, or the appropriation now asked will be spent long before the fiscal year ends, and he will be forced to throw still further out of balance by another big deficiency appropriation.

If $1,500,000,000 were used in grants to help the states maintain direct relief at decent levels, instead of being used wastefully on work relief for only part of the unemployed, it might cover actual needs. That, it seems to me is the only way it could be made to cover these needs. E. L. S.

One Man's Opinion

By X REPORTER

THE HORSE-LAUGH

From over the semi-partitions in the restaurant in which I was dining came a concerted burst of laughter that literally shook the tableware in front of me.

It was a commingling of screeches and roars, of half-falsetto wailings and deep bass rumbles. The blast hit with all the suddenness of an earthquake, increased its tempo and density to an ear-splitting climax, and then slowly tapered off into a hysterical bubbling that broke out anew every few seconds, weaker and weaker, as if the laughers had spent all the energy they could possibly muster.

Now I like laughter, ordinarily. Laughter that springs from genuine merriment, fun or even an excess of good nature strikes a sympathetic chord in my being. I like to laugh, and like to hear others laugh—ordinarily.

But forced or over-done laughter does not strike that chord. Laughter, like all other good things, must be controlled. Intemperance in laughing changes it from one of mankind's prettiest graces into a vice.

The party in the booth on the other side of the semi-partition may have been slightly "lit." I have no way of knowing, for I did not see any one of them. "Lit" laughter usually has a strident note to it that brands it for what it is, meaningless noise measurable by no standard of humor.

This particular hurricane of guffaws, snorts and screeches—musculine and feminine—did not sound "lit" exactly, yet it was noisy, noisy beyond the point of normal exuberance.

When a waitress came around the partition with a sort of a grim smile on her face, I motioned a thumb in the direction of the tornado of sound and wagged my head inquiringly.

She smiled that one of the men in the party had left the booth for a minute and had doctored up an ice cream sundae ordered by one of his fellow diners with catsup, mustard, horseradish and whatever other seasoning materials he could find.

I might have known it. Just an age-old childish prank. The incident led me to make the mental note here set down:

Nothing is funny enough to warrant some kinds of laughter.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town
With C. F. SKIRVIN

It is not in the lengthening span of life we get our greatest dividends, but in the accumulated friendships. It is not in the number of passing years we retrospect with satisfaction, but in the contributions we make to mankind along the journey of life. Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Warner, who last Sunday celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, can look back on the former and rejoice in their large and faithful fellowships, and to the latter with contentment in their gifts of helpfulness. Their postcard home on Willitts street was filled with an atmosphere of good-will, brought there by friends of long ago, and the more recent ones whose appraisal of their fine citizenship brought forth sincere felicitations. Fifty years of domestic fidelity and affection is in striking contrast with the present day brevity of marital affiliation. May the coming years unfold the celebrants to a sweeter affection and increase their value to those they love and those who love them.

Paul Wright, our sports editor, is as absent-minded as a college professor. He thought he was going into a barber shop for a shave, and comes out of a beauty parlor with a finger wave.

Walt Bandick, who wrote the column for me last Saturday, and inflicted the same punishment a year ago, vanished before I could either protest or approve. When I inquired of Marc Goodnow the Bandick whereabouts, he said Walt connected up with a sandwich which contained about as much ptomaine as a meat and potato pie. He went to do a hula hula, so he took it back to Los Angeles and put it to bed. Gee, I hope the dance is over by this time.

May 1 is not only May day, but also health day, according to Governor Merriam, who has so proclaimed. It will take more than one day to rejuvenate my health station.

Using the fitness system, I get acquainted with both of the little Beech-Nut Red Riding Hood girls. I ask one the name of the other, who was standing on the opposite side of the street, and then by a strenuous route go across to get the other girl's name by the same method. So I have Paquita Hunt on one side and Mary Sanford on the other, and before the maneuvering is over they are both on my side. These fine little ladies pass some sunbaked and dehydrated milk of magnesia. You fellows who pass them several times during the day, just to accumulate a stock of gum, should know it by this time. The girls tell you that Beech-Nut orange chewing gum is good for the teeth, but how this mucilaginous preparation can help a set of dentures requires explanation. As for myself, the time for the improvement of my teeth is resting in oblivion. However, I appreciate the gesture on the part of Paquita and Mary.

The galloping goose has ceased to gallop, if reports who take me into this office are correct. Otto Jacobs solved the problem by serving the web-footed bird to his American Legion comrades. Otto invited them to a dinner, and finis was written to Comrade Sullivan's ship. Reminds me of a time member Phillips invited a friend over to enjoy a chicken dinner, and the friend later on discovered the chicken came from his own flock.

Margaret Day, who was helping the U.S.C. college journalistic force get out the Saturday issue of The Journal just for a day, left a final fling on my typewriter about abetting the column with a lot of tripe and potpourri, but it never occurred to her that I get paid for it.

"One of the court house slaves" sends me the following interrogative inquiry, and an experimental quest: "Your reference in last night's column (4-22-37) to the feeling of safety one receives from the 'silent guardians' of the pedestrian lanes, moves me to inquire whether or not you have ever tried to cross Broadway between the court house and the annex. They (the motorists) not only rush at you with great speed which, I can assure you, does not give a feeling of safety, but add insult to injury by blowing the horn if you should happen in their path. I am a great admirer of your philosophy and wisdom when I read daily in your paper but I couldn't resist the urge to let you know that at least in this particular place the 'silent guardian' is merely part of the scenery." Now what am I to do? Go over and take the chance of getting killed? No, I refuse to agree with my court respondent. I know the place. I know the habit of the motorists in this particular spot, and if it wasn't for the bunch of irresistible foms over in the annex, and then back again, I would never imperil my life trying to cross this alleged safety lane. I heartily agree with my fellowman in bondage. However, lest we forget, the "silent guardians" on Main street are doing a much better job.
